DURABILITY FOR LONG-TERM SAVINGS

Trust the 5.5 million homeowners who have chosen James Hardie® siding products to provide them exceptional durability and long-term cost savings.

Like all James Hardie® siding products, HardieShingle® siding is Engineered for Climate® to provide improved protection from your local climate. Unlike wood-based siding products which may rot, curl, warp, or split from extended exposure to moisture, James Hardie siding products resist the harshest weather conditions, prolonging the life of the siding. Plus, James Hardie siding products resist the spread of flame, providing greater security from fire than wood and plastic-based siding products.

When UV levels, wind, rain, pests and flame are at their worst, James Hardie siding products deliver lasting durability and protection for your biggest investment.

MORE COLOR WITH LESS MAINTENANCE

Not only are James Hardie® siding products with ColorPlus® Technology built to last, they are designed to hold paint for a long time, creating annual cost savings and minimal maintenance.

While the paint on wood-based siding products has a tendency to crack and fade, ColorPlus® Technology optimizes paint adhesion and slows fading because it's specifically formulated for use on fiber cement and is applied at the factory to eliminate the risks and inconsistencies of field painting.

Offered in more than 20 colors, ColorPlus Technology reveals a beautiful, consistent finish. Plus, James Hardie siding with ColorPlus Technology holds its color 30%* longer than plastic-based siding products, which can't be repainted even if they have severely faded.

Thanks to James Hardie siding products with ColorPlus Technology, you'll reduce demanding and expensive maintenance cycles, generating free time for your family and cost savings for your pocket.

AUTHENTIC DESIGN

Get the perfect match of durability and design. With HardieShingle® siding, you get the warm, realistic look of shingle or shake. HardieShingle® siding offers enhanced design over plastic shake by featuring true keyways and woven corners, achieving an authentic, handcrafted aesthetic.
